Enemy Toll in 8 Years of U.S. Involvement Surpasses 400,000

460 Sign Names on Petitions Calling for Aged Care Center

SAIGON (AP) — Military spokesmen said today the number of enemy troops killed in eight years of American involvement in the Vietnam war has passed the 400,000 mark.

The spokesmen thus wrote another chapter in the controversial subject of "the body count," designed to show how many of the Communist-led forces have been downed. The feeling among some military men is that announcements of enemy casualties are exaggerated through estimates when no actual count of bodies is possible.

In many cases, large numbers of enemy dead are credited to air strikes, helicopter gunships and artillery. But allied commanders argue that a countering factor is that many dead, and wounded men who later die, are removed from battlefields before they can be counted.

The military spokesmen said the 2,866 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese troops killed last week boosted to 401,589 the toll since Jan. 1, 1961. Loss of government troops in the same period is said to be about 95,000 while the United States lost 28,211 men up to Sept. 21.

In another development, authorities reported a mortar attack on the sprawling U.S. Army headquarters complex at Long Binh, 16 miles northeast of Saigon.

During a 20-minute attack Monday night, enemy gunners slammed 40 rounds of 82mm mortar shells into the camp. U.S. spokesmen described damage and casualties as light. He said there were no fatalities.

South Vietnamese headquarters, in reporting that the number of enemy troops killed had gone past the 400,000 mark, did not say how many government soldiers had been killed since Jan. 1, 1961. But Vietnamese military sources said that since 1965 about 45,000 government troops have been killed. In the four years before that best estimates put the South Vietnamese losses at 40,000.

The government's weekly casualty summary reported that 36 South Vietnamese soldiers were killed during the seven-day period ending at midnight last Saturday and another 1,230 wounded. These figures compared to 473 government troops killed and 1,262 wounded the previous week ending Sept. 21.

Meanwhile, an American combat air losses continued. Headquarters reported the loss of a fighter-bomber over North Vietnam and two helicopters over South Vietnam, all shot down by enemy ground fire.

A Navy A6 Intruder from the 7th Fleet carrier Constellation was downed Monday as American pilots flew 108 missions through moderate to heavy anti-aircraft fire over North Vietnam's southern panhandle.

The Intruder, which went down about six miles below the 19th Parallel, was the 901st American warplane downed in combat in 3 1/2 years of bombing North Vietnam. The two crewmen were reported missing.

In a delayed report, command spokesmen said the two Army helicopters were downed Sunday in the Mekong Delta and the northernmost 1st Corps area. While both helicopters were destroyed, no crewmen were killed. Two crewmen, however, were wounded. The two losses raised to 875 the number of U.S. helicopters downed in combat in South Vietnam.

Elsewhere, South Vietnamese headquarters reported enemy troops infiltrated into a civilian resettlement camp near Quang Ngai City along the coastal lowlands and set fire to 40 homes.

A government spokesman said 30 of the houses were completely destroyed. There was no immediate report on casualties.

Last month 210 enemy soldiers defected to the government's side in the area around Hue, an Army spokesman said. In August 92 surrendered in the area under the government's open arms program.

Enemy gunners early today sent eighty rounds of 82mm mortars whizzing into the administrative headquarters of the provincial capital of Tam Ky, 40 miles below Da Nang.

The U. S. Command hit back at the enemy with heavy air strikes by waves of B52 bombers.

Flying in from the bases in Guam and Thailand, 30 Straotfortresses aimed their heaviest blows at the North Vietnamese 5th Division in War Zone C along the Cambodian border, about 60 miles northwest of Saigon.

The B52s also have been pounding enemy infiltration corridors leading into Saigon and the jungled approaches northwest of the capital have become priority targets.

The B52s also mounted four other missions Monday and today, including two against enemy troops menacing Da Nang, South Vietnam's second largest city. Twelve of the bombers dropped 350 tons of bombs on enemy troops concentrations, base camps and bunker and trench complexes 12 miles southwest of Da Nang.

It was the same area where U.S. Marines reported killing 44 North Vietnamese soldiers Monday. Marine losses were put at three dead and six wounded.

The fighting began after the Marines on an offensive sweep ran into the enemy in fortified positions in a valley northeast of An Hoa.

Marine artillery hammered the enemy positions for several hours before the Leathernecks pushed ahead to find the enemy had fled into the jungle.

Humphrey Favors Bombing Halt as Acceptable Peace Risk If Elected

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey says if elected president he would stop the bombing of North Vietnam as an "acceptable risk" for peace if Hanoi shows willingness to restore the demilitarized zone.

In his first paid nationwide television broadcast Monday night, and speaking from Salt Lake City before flying here, the Democratic presidential candidate said:

"As president, I would stop the bombing of the North as an acceptable risk for peace because I believe it could lead to success in the negotiations and a shorter war. This would be the best protection for our troops."

One thousand names are need to call for the election.

The cost of 150-bed nursing home for the aged to be placed in the center of the county would be approximately $500,000.

Admitted to the Care Center would be men and women whose retirement income from social security or any other state or federal sources is not sufficient to take care of their needs.

The home would be operated on a nonprofit basis, with a board of directors to serve without remuneration.

It would serve all rural areas and towns in the county.

Appointed to a temporary board are K.M. Streeter, Painton; Kenneth Raney, Scott City; Hess Porter, Benton; Karl von Kassel, Chaffee; O.C. Amick, Ilmo; Joel Montgomery and Bob McCord, both of Sikeston. Tom Gilmore was appointed attorney for the board.

Scott county has a population of 32,748, with an assessed valuation of $52 million.

Six Fined for Motor Vehicle Offenses

Six were fined today in magistrate court. Judge M. E. Montgomery presided. Assistant Prosecuting Attorney Tom Gilmore represented the state.

Claude Faye Kirkpatrick, Benton, charged with exceeding the speed limit, was fined $10 and costs.

William Scott Shaw, O'Fallon, charged with exceeding the speed limit, was fined $16 and costs.

Grover Henderson, Arnold, charged with exceeding the speed limit, was fined $21.50 and costs.

The United Shoe Workers of America and International Shoe Company reached a tentative agreement last night on a new contract only hour before a strike deadline.

The old contract expired at midnight Monday. Shoe workers in Sikeston reported for work as usual today. The factory here was closed last week due to a slow down in orders. The temporary shut down had

Appointment Of Fortas Put Aside

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate refused today to cut off a filibuster against Abe Fortas' nomination to be chief justice and the appointment was put aside at least temporarily.

On motion of Majority Leader Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., the Senate took up the defense appropriation bill after the anti-filibuster vote fell 14 short of the required two-thirds majority.

The vote to halt debate on a motion to take up President Johnson's nomination of Fortas was 45 for and 43 against.

Mansfield said he would announce in the next two or three days whether another attempt would be made to win Senate confirmation of Fortas.

In the meantime, while the Senate returns to legislative business, he said the nomination will remain the pending business on the executive calendar.

"The Senate has refused to face squarely the issue of the nomination of Mr. Fortas," Mansfield said after the vote defeating the move to put the Senate's debate-limiting cloture rule into effect.

Federal-State Services Will Be Discussed

Attendance for the all day meeting on federal-state services to communities Thursday at the Holiday Inn reflects interest by city, county officials, and civic leaders in the foothill.

Ninety have made advance registrations. More than 100 are expected. J. B. Martin, director of Footheel Economic Development Council at Malden, said.

Officials from federal and state agencies will discuss their programs and answer questions.

East Prairie Man Stabbed, Two Held

CHARLESTON -- Two Charleston men were charged with assault with a deadly weapon in connection with the stabbing of Eugene Barnes of East Prairie at 7:30 a.m. today.

Charged are Gerald DeField, 52, and Bobby Joe Finley, 21. Sheriff W. J. "Pedro" Simmons said that Barnes was stabbed in the lower abdomen at the Mississippi County air strip west of Charleston.

Barnes was reported in serious condition at the Missouri Delta Community Hospital in Sikeston.

Barnes owns the Barnes Flying Service at East Prairie, and DeField owns Jelly's Flying Service at Charleston. Finley is employed by DeField.

DeField and Barnes had quarreled periodically for several years, Simmons said.

The accused men are being held in the county jail.

Myra Tindal Sells Store To Claytons

Mrs. Myra Tindal, owner of Myra's Young Fashions, 114 West Front St., sold her business Monday to W. L. "Buddy," and Carol Sue Clayton.

The new owners took possession immediately and will continue to handle a full line of infants, children and junior clothes, as well as a ladies and maternity department.

Mrs. Clayton will manage the store, and will have as her assistants, Mrs. Hazel Wernick and Mrs. Linda Mays.

Mrs. Tindal, who has operated the store 15 years, has no immediate plans, but will assist Mr. and Mrs. Clayton for 30 days.

reasonable risks to find peace in Vietnam, and He noted:

"North Vietnam, according to its own statements and those of others, has said it will proceed to prompt and good-faith negotiations if we stop the present limited bombing of the war."

On other major points, the vice president said:

"The ultimate key to an honorable solution must be free elections in South Vietnam," with the Viet Cong and other dissident groups allowed to participate if "they were willing to abide by peaceful processes."

"I would propose once more an immediate cease-fire—with the United Nations or other international supervision—and supervised withdrawal of all foreign forces from South Vietnam."

"I would sit down with the leaders of South Vietnam to set a specific timetable by which American forces could be systematically reduced while South Vietnamese forces took over more and more of the burden." He said he thought this would be possible next year.

Two Critically Hurt in Collision

A two car collision Monday at 4:55 p.m., resulted in injuries to five on highway 34, 14 miles northwest of Bellview in Iron county. Two were hurt critically.

A 1955 Chevrolet, driven by Robert Goforth, 27, Eminence, and a 1965 Chevrolet station wagon, driven by Guy Maybery, 35, Bonnet Terre, met on a hill headon as both cars rounded a curve.

Critical by injured were Goforth with a fractured pelvis, face cuts and a ruptured eye, and his wife, Johnny Goforth, 26, a passenger, who had fractures of the left arm, elbow and right eye cuts.

Both were taken to a St. Louis hospital.

Injured in the station wagon, was the driver, with a skull fracture, chest and knee cuts.

Grand Rapids, Mich. (AP) — Third party candidate George C. Wallace stumped through Michigan today and was interrupted by hecklers as he spoke to a crowd of some 7,000 in Grand Rapids.

Shouts of "Wallace go home" and placards declaring "Wallace is soft on Fascism" greeted Wallace at a downtown football field.

The candidate told the hecklers, mostly college students, "you'd better have your day now, because after November 5th you're through."

By their behavior, Wallace said, the hecklers had "gotten me a half-million votes here in Grand Rapids."

Eleven Point Among Approved Wild Rivers

WASHINGTON (AP) — A compromise bill to authorize a National Wild and Scenic Rivers System was passed by the Senate Thursday in a voice vote. The measure, which had been approved by the House, went to the White House.

The bill designates all or parts of eight rivers as initial units of the system. One is the Eleven Point River in southern Missouri.

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — Joseph A. Marshall of Marshall, Mo., has been named chairman of the Missouri Committee of Farmers for Humphrey-Muskie, the state Democratic headquarters announced today.

Vice presidents named include Howard Cowden of North Kansas City, Jerry Litton of Chillicothe, Howard Taylor of Dexter, Ralph Hawkins of West Plains and Mrs. Len Harrington of Greenwood.

Nixon Says HHH Speech May Undercut Peace Talks

DETROIT (AP) — Richard M. Nixon said today Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey should clarify his position on terms for a halt in U.S. bombing of North Vietnam lest Hanoi interpret it as an offer of "a concession in January which they could not get now."

The Republican presidential nominee said if the Communist negotiators in Paris read Humphrey's Monday night speech as holding out hope for an eased U.S. stand should Humphrey win the White House, this could undercut the current peace talks.

"It is possible," Nixon told a news conference. "I do not charge it."

Nixon said Humphrey's nationally televised speech had produced confusion as to what Communist moves he would seek as the price for a bombing pause.

Humphrey said he would as president stop the bombing as an acceptable risk for peace but would in advance of such action place key importance on evidence that the Communists are willing to restore the demilitarized zone between North and South Vietnam.

Nixon said U.S. negotiators hold as their "trump card," the U.S. bombing of the north.

He said if that card is played by a presidential candidate "it means that all chance for these hours. The next total eclipse of the moon will be in February, evaporate."

Nixon said Humphrey talked of accepting the risk inherent in a bombing cessation, but he said the risk would not face the vice president, it would face U.S. fighting men in the demilitarized zone.

He said he will not indicate what posture he would take as president should the current peace negotiations fail.

Nixon quoted Humphrey as saying earlier in the campaign that North Vietnam must understand that the race for the White House will not produce war policy concessions outside the negotiations.

Nixon said he agrees with that posture.

Nixon said a Humphrey clarification should deal particularly with the question of what kind of de-escalation signal would be required from the Communists to prompt a cessation of bombing.

Nixon talked by telephone with Sen. Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois and Rep. Gerald R. Ford of Michigan and then issued in their behalf this response to Humphrey:

"We conclude that his 'new' policies have only a partisan motivation and purpose and should be so regarded and therefore disregarded."

Humphrey, in a nationally televised speech Monday night said that as president he would stop the bombing as an "acceptable risk for peace."

But he added these qualifying words:

"In weighing that risk-and before taking action-I would place key importance on evidence—direct or indirect—of deed-of Communist willingness to restore the demilitarized zone between North and South Vietnam."

Dirksen and Ford telephoned Nixon following the Humphrey address and told him that in numerous White House conferences on Vietnam "we have never heard the vice president advocate the policies he advocated this evening-never."

On that basis, the Republican leaders said they concluded that Humphrey had partisan motivation.

Nixon said of his Democratic rival for the White House, "I don't want to say anything until I have read the full text of his remarks."

A reporter asked Nixon whether he had altered his own position on the issue.

"No," Nixon said.

When the bombing issue was raised last Friday in Louisville, Ky., Nixon aides reissued an April 1 pronouncement by their candidate:

"In my judgment, a bombing halt by itself would not be a step toward peace. But, if the United States has finally received assurances that it would be reciprocated, then further steps toward peace may become possible."

Humphrey was said to feel his position represented a significant departure from that of President Johnson.

Nixon confers today with about 18 leaders of community projects designed to provide jobs for the unemployed. He said he was seeking data on a program to provide private enterprise with financial incentives to create jobs.

Once the U.S. system is working properly to deal with the unemployment and other problems besetting Negroes and the poor, he said in a Michigan-wide television broadcast Monday night, racial revolutionaries will lose "their spear-carriers."

Bloomfield Man Heads State Masons

ST. LOUIS --Elvis A. Mooney, Bloomfield, is elected grand master of Missouri Masons at the annual meeting of the Grand Lodge Monday.

Mooney served as deputy grand master last year.

He will be honored by Masons from Southeast Missouri at a dinner Oct. 19, at 7:00 p.m. at the Bloomfield high school gymnasium. Hosts will be the Bloomfield lodge and the 50th Masonic district of Missouri.

Reservations for Masons and their wives are being received through home lodges.

Mooney, 57, is a native of Bloomfield, where he attended schools. He was graduated from Southeast Missouri State College Cape Girardeau in 1934 and from the University of Missouri law school in 1938. He served as principal of the high school in Bloomfield from 1934 to 1937 and as superintendent from 1937 to 1940 before entering law school.

During world War II he was a navy lieutenant and served in the western and southwestern Pacific.

He was Stoddard county's representative in the general assembly from 1949 to 1951, but did not seek re-election.

Mooney began his Masonic service in 1934 when in the Bloomfield lodge, and served as its worshipful master in 1940. He holds membership in York Rite chapter, council and

He is president of the Masonic home board and has served as a member of the jurisprudence committee of the Grand Lodge.

Mr. and Mrs. Mooney have a daughter, Kathryn Ann, a student at the college in Cape Girardeau, and a son, Elvis A. Mooney, Jr., who is in school in Bloomfield.

He spoke of men like H. Rap Brown and Stokely Carmichael.

In the same broadcast, Nixon indicated a Republican administration would enforce more stringently the new federal law banning interstate travel with intent to incite riot.

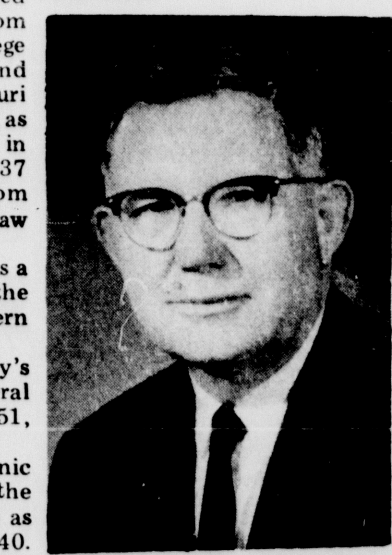

Nixon also set his guideline for appointments to the Supreme Court without mentioning embattled Abe Fortas, Johnson's nominee to be chief justice, whose appointment is locked in a Senate battle.

"I'm not so concerned about whether a man is a liberal or a conservative," Nixon said. "I am more concerned about his attitude toward the Constitution. I think our courts should interpret the law, I do not think they should move over and write the law."

Humphrey Favors Bombing Halt as Acceptable Peace Risk If Elected

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey says if elected president he would stop the bombing of North Vietnam as an "acceptable risk" for peace if Hanoi shows willingness to restore the demilitarized zone.

In his first paid nationwide television broadcast Monday night, and speaking from Salt Lake City before flying here, the Democratic presidential candidate said:

"As president, I would stop the bombing of the North as an acceptable risk for peace because I believe it could lead to success in the negotiations and a shorter war. This would be the best protection for our troops."

The vice president placed a qualification on his proposed bombing halt, saying that before taking action he would "place key importance on evidence—direct or indirect, by deed or word—of Communist willingness to restore the demilitarized zone between North and South Vietnam."

Humphrey added that "If the government of North Vietnam were to show bad faith, I would reserve the right to resume the bombing."

There was no immediate response to Humphrey's speech from Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, a fellow Minnesota Democrat who was the vice president's principal rival at the Democratic convention in Chicago.

But Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, whose late brother, Robert, was another Humphrey rival for Democratic nomination, sent a congratulatory telegram. He wired Humphrey:

"To all who look for peace in Vietnam, you have given great encouragement and hope. To all who seek new and more constructive directions in American foreign policy in the nuclear age, you have taken a position of distinct leadership."

"You are the only candidate for president who has offered the American people proposals for ending the war in Vietnam."

Aides to the vice president made a point of emphasizing that, "We have made no effort," to inform President Johnson in advance of the contents of the vice president's speech.

The vice president said at the outset that "peace would not be served by weakness or withdrawal," and added, "nor would I escalate the level of violence in either North or South Vietnam. We must seek to de-escalate."

He based his stance on a bombing halt by citing the Democratic platform which says the next president should take reasonable risks to find peace in Vietnam, and He noted:

"North Vietnam, according to its own statements and those of others, has said it will proceed to prompt and good-faith negotiations if we stop the present limited bombing of the war."

On other major points, the vice president said:

"The ultimate key to an honorable solution must be free elections in South Vietnam," with the Viet Cong and other dissident groups allowed to participate if "they were willing to abide by peaceful processes."

"I would sit down with the leaders of South Vietnam to set a specific timetable by which American forces could be systematically reduced while South Vietnamese forces took over more and more of the burden." He said he thought this would be possible next year.

Humphrey said he would apply the lesson of Vietnam, as he put it, and, with a set of fresh advisers, review "other commitments made in other times" to determine which should be retained in the national interest.

Saying he did not condemn any past commitment, he went on:

"But I do say, if I am president, I owe it to this nation to bring our men and resources in Vietnam back to America where we need them so badly, and to be sure we put first things first in the future."

Humphrey said the views of one of his election opponents, third-party candidate George C. Wallace, "indicate that he would sharply escalate the war." And he said that the record of the Republican candidate, Richard M. Nixon, shows that since 1954 "he has taken a line on Vietnam policy which I believe could lead to greater escalation of the war."

East Prairie Man Stabbed, Two Held

CHARLESTON -- Two Charleston men were charged with assault with a deadly weapon in connection with the stabbing of Eugene Barnes of East Prairie at 7:30 a.m. today.

Charged are Gerald DeField, 52, and Bobby Joe Finley, 21. Sheriff W. J. "Pedro" Simmons said that Barnes was stabbed in the lower abdomen at the Mississippi County air strip west of Charleston.

Barnes was reported in serious condition at the Missouri Delta Community Hospital in Sikeston.

Barnes owns the Barnes Flying Service at East Prairie, and DeField owns Jelly's Flying Service at Charleston. Finley is employed by DeField.

DeField and Barnes had quarreled periodically for several years, Simmons said.

The accused men are being held in the county jail.

Coins Stolen in Lounge

An undetermined amount of change was taken from four vending machines last night in the workmen's lounge at Anchor Toy Corp., 1620 East Malone, police reported today.

No sign of forced entry to the building was apparent. The machines were pried open.

In other activity, James Taylor, 924 Tanner, reported to police at 6:58 a.m. today that a trumpet valued at $200 was taken last night from his car while it was parked at the high school football field.

C. H. Lambert, 19, 109 Westgate, was arrested by police today on a parole violation warrant. He was turned over to Scott county authorities in Benton.

Ellis Agee, 23, Morehouse, was charged at 10:50 p.m. Monday with careless and imprudent driving.

Mildred P. Cranick, 25, 843 William, was charged at 7:20 p.m. Monday with running a stop sign on North St.

Arrested during the weekend.

Thomas J. Brashear, Oran, charged with running a stop sign Saturday on Tanner Street.

Luther Hyde, route two, Sikeston, was charged by police Friday with careless and imprudent driving.

Wallace Heckled

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (AP) — Third party candidate George C. Wallace stumped through Michigan today and was interrupted by hecklers as he spoke to a crowd of some 7,000 in Grand Rapids.

Shouts of "Wallace go home" and placards declaring "Wallace is soft on Fascism" greeted Wallace at a downtown football field.

The candidate told the hecklers, mostly college students, "you'd better have your day now, because after November 5th you're through."

By their behavior, Wallace said, the hecklers had "gotten me a half-million votes here in Grand Rapids."

Myra Tindal Sells Store To Claytons

Mrs. Myra Tindal, owner of Myra's Young Fashions, 114 West Front St., sold her business Monday to W. L. "Buddy," and Carol Sue Clayton.

The new owners took possession immediately and will continue to handle a full line of infants, childrens and junior clothes, as well as a ladies and maternity department.

Mrs. Clayton will manage the store, and will have as her assistants, Mrs. Hazel Werneck and Mrs. Linda Mays.

Mrs. Tindal, who has operated the store 15 years, has no immediate plans, but will assist Mr. and Mrs. Clayton for 30 days.

Envoys Ponder HHH Policy Pledge

PARIS (AP) — North Vietnamese diplomats today consulted with the Hanoi government over terms of Hubert H. Humphrey's qualified pledge to quit bombing the Communist North if he is elected president of the United States.

Pending the outcome of those exchanges, North Vietnamese delegates to the Paris peace talks withheld official comment on the U. S. vice president's campaign speech.

The initial impression formed by the Communist authorities, according to sources close to them, was that Humphrey's pledge seems to fall short of the U.S. terms for beginning serious peacemaking.

"Time and again," one informant commented, "Hanoi's spokesmen have insisted a cessation of all American military activity against the North must be unconditional."

Two Critically Hurt in Collision

A two car collision Monday at 4:55 p.m., resulted in injuries to five on highway 34, 14 miles northwest of Bellevue in Iron county. Two were hurt critically.

A 1955 Chevrolet, driven by Robert Goforth, 27, Eminence, and a 1965 Chevrolet station wagon, driven by Guy Mayberry, 35, Bonne Terre, met on a hill headon as both cars rounded a curve.

Critical by injured were Goforth with a fractured pelvis, face cuts and a ruptured eye, and his wife, Johnny Goforth, 26, a passenger, who had fractures of the left arm, elbow and right eye cuts.

Both were taken to a St. Louis hospital.

Injured in the station wagon, was the driver, with a skull fracture, chest and knee cuts.

Two other passengers in the Goforth car, Clifford Goforth, 51, Eminence had a fractured right shoulder and hand, and Delinda Goforth, Ninence six months, had cuts on the head and abdomen.

Mayberry, Clifford Goforth and the infant were taken to St. Marys hospital in Ironton.

Eleven Point Among Approved Wild Rivers

WASHINGTON (AP) — A compromise bill to authorize a National Wild and Scenic Rivers System was passed by the Senate Thursday in a voice vote. The measure, which had been approved by the House, went to the White House.

The bill designates all or parts of eight rivers as initial units of the system. One is the Eleven Point River in southern Missouri.

He spoke of men like H. Rap Brown and Stokely Carmichael.

In the same broadcast, Nixon indicated a Republican administration would enforce more stringently the new federal law banning interstate travel with intent to incite riot.

Nixon also set his guideline for appointments to the Supreme Court without mentioning embattled Abe Fortas, Johnson's nominee to be chief justice, whose appointment is locked in a Senate battle.

"I'm not so concerned about whether a man is a liberal or a conservative," Nixon said. "I am more concerned about his attitude toward the Constitution...I think our courts should interpret the law, I do not think they should move over and write the law."

Farming Biggest Industry Stroup Reminds Rotarians

Farming was described as the region's biggest industry by Tom Stroup, Benton, Scott county extension director.

He said that when the farmer doesn't make a profit on a crop he has no money to spend in retail stores.

Stroup said in a talk to the Rotary club at the Rustic Rock Inn that the trend was toward larger farms and fewer farmers. He was introduced by Donald Bohannon.

Dr. Edward C. Scheu, chiropractor, and Kenneth Williams were introduced as new Rotary members. Gene Ayers of Union was a visiting Rotarian.

Nixon Says HHH Speech May Undercut Peace Talks

DETROIT (AP) — Richard M. Nixon said today Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey should clarify his position on terms for a halt in U.S. bombing of North Vietnam lest Hanoi interpret it as an offer of "a concession in January which they could not get now."

The Republican presidential nominee said if the Communist negotiators in Paris read Humphrey's Monday night speech as holding out hope for an eased U.S. stand should Humphrey win the White House, this could undercut the current peace talks.

"It is possible," Nixon told a news conference. "I do not charge it."

Nixon said Humphrey's nationally televised speech had produced confusion as to what Communist moves he would seek as the price for a bombing pause.

Humphrey said he would as president stop the bombing as an acceptable risk for peace but would in advance of such action place key importance on evidence that the Communists are willing to restore the demilitarized zone between North and South Vietnam.

Nixon said U.S. negotiators hold as their "trump card," the U.S. bombing of the north.

He said if that card is played by a presidential candidate "it means that all chance for these negotiations to succeed will evaporate."

Nixon said Humphrey talked of accepting the risk inherent in a bombing cessation, but he said the risk would not face the vice president, it would face Hanoi fighting men in the demilitarized zone.

He said he will not indicate what posture he would take as president should the current peace negotiations fail.

Nixon quoted Humphrey as saying earlier in the campaign that North Vietnam must understand that the race for the White House will not produce war policy concessions outside North and South Vietnam."

Nixon said he agrees with that posture.

Nixon said a Humphrey clarification should deal particularly with the question of what kind of de-escalation signal would be required from the Communists to prompt a cessation of bombing.

Nixon talked by telephone with Sen. Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois and Rep. Gerald R. Ford of Michigan and then issued in their behalf this response to Humphrey:

"We conclude that his 'new' policies have only a partisan motivation and purpose and should be so regarded and therefore disregarded."

Humphrey, in a nationally televised speech Monday night said that as president he would stop the bombing as an "acceptable risk for peace."

But he added these qualifying words:

"In weighing that risk-and before taking action-I would place key importance on evidence—direct or indirect—by deed or deed-of Communist willingness to restore the demilitarized zone between North and South Vietnam."

Dirksen and Ford telephoned Nixon following the Humphrey address and told him that in numerous White House conferences on Vietnam "we have never heard the vice president advocate the policies he advocated this evening—never."

On that basis, the Republican leaders said they concluded that Humphrey had partisan motivation.

Nixon said of his Democratic rival for the White House, "I don't want to say anything until I have read the full text of his remarks."

A reporter asked Nixon whether he had altered his own position on the issue.

"No," Nixon said.

When the bombing issue was raised last Friday in Louisville, Ky., Nixon aides reissued an April 1 pronouncement by their candidate:

"In my judgment, a bombing halt by itself would not be a step toward peace. But, if the United States has finally received assurances that it would be reciprocated, then further steps toward peace may become possible."

Humphrey was said to feel his position represented a significant departure from that of President Johnson.

Nixon confers today with about 18 leaders of community projects designed to provide jobs for the unemployed. He said he was seeking data on a program to provide private enterprise with financial incentives to create jobs.

Once the U.S. system is working properly to deal with the unemployment and other problems besetting Negroes and the poor, he said in a Michigan-wide television broadcast Monday night, racial revolutionaries will lose "their spear-carriers."

Bloomfield Man Heads State Masons

ST. LOUIS --Elvis A. Mooney, Bloomfield, was elected grand master of Missouri Masons at the annual meeting of the Grand Lodge Monday.

Mooney served as deputy grand master last year.

He will be honored by Masons from Southeast Missouri at a dinner Oct. 19, at 7:00 p.m. at the Bloomfield high school gymnasium. Hosts will be the Bloomfield lodge and the 50th Masonic district of Missouri. Reservations for Masons and their wives are being received through home lodges.

Mooney, 57, is a native of Bloomfield, where he attended schools. He was graduated from Southeast Missouri State College Cape Girardeau in 1934 and from the University of Missouri law school in 1948. He served as principal of the high school in Bloomfield from 1934 to 1937 and as superintendent from 1937 to 1940 before entering law school.

During world War II he was a navy lieutenant and served in the western and southwestern Pacific.

He was Stoddard county's representative in the general assembly from 1949 to 1951, but did not seek re-election.

Mooney began his Masonic service in 1934 when in the Bloomfield lodge, and served as its worshipful master in 1940. He holds membership in York Rite chapter, council and

POOR CHARLIE SAYS!

WORLD SERIES TIME

Legend has it that Mexican badman Pancho Villa once postponed a raid until after the World Series so he could be assured of making the front pages. A half-century later baseball is hard put to press its claim as America's national pastime. But for a few days every autumn it can still rise above its own fading image and dispel more worldly concerns from the American mind and news columns.

That time of year is here again. The World Series opens in St. Louis where the defending champion Cardinals meet the Detroit Tigers, Wednesday, Oct. 2. For baseball fans the series would provide welcome respite from one of the dullest seasons within memory. There was no rousing finish in either the National or American league. And the dullness was compounded by a growing scarcity of .300 hitters.

It has been, Time magazine proclaimed (Sept. 13), "The Year of the Pitcher." In this year of wondrous pitching, Detroit's Denny McLain is king. He became the first pitcher since Dizzy Dean in 1934 to win 30 games or more. Like Diz in his day, McLain is brashly confident and ready made for a fickle sports public instantly to cherish or dislike.

McLain may not be the best among his peers, Shirley Povich of the Washington Post has suggested. The sports editor touts Bob Gibson of St. Louis as McLain's equal. When Gibson takes the mound against McLain, baseball buffs can judge for themselves. And there, sports fans, is the makings of another World Series.

We understand that Lynn Twitty our efficient and popular Superintendent of education made a talk on the radio Thursday morning in which he says don't believe all the rumors you hear that there are generally two sides to all stories.

Well if Mr. Twitty wants to know some facts we can give him time, place and who got slapped and who did the slapping.

Smoking and matches annually rank as the Number 1 cause of fires in the U.S. Last year alone, reports the National Fire Protection Association, 160,000 building fires were begun through careless handling of smoking materials.

FREE ENTERPRISE DAY

Just about every day of the year has been set aside for observance of an event, an institution or a notable figure in the nation's history. A day of this kind is scheduled on the calendar for October 2 — an occasion that not one person in a thousand will note or be aware of. In the "Catalog of Days," October 2 is identified simply as Free Enterprise Day, whose purpose is: "To show appreciation of America's Free Enterprise System, by reminding ourselves of its benefits and pledging its continued support."

We have all heard the term free enterprise, but in this day of super-government, high taxes, crushing public debt and detailed regulation of nearly every human activity, free enterprise has lost much of its meaning. It has ceased to exist in the pure traditional sense and sadly enough because of that, basic liberties have been circumscribed to a far greater extent than most of us realize. In fact, many writers and commentators shy away from the expression "free enterprise," because they feel it has become meaningless.

Free enterprise is far from meaningless. It is separable from representative government. Officially, it is defined by Webster as "an economic system in which primarily reliance is placed upon private business operating in competitive markets to satisfy consumer demands and to maintain equilibrium in the national economy and in which government action in this respect is restricted to protecting the rights of individuals rather than acting as a directing economic force." Thus, Free Enterprise Day holds genuine meaning for all of us.

One thing we guess we will never understand and that is why we have to force desegregation on those who do not desire it or want it.

Lincoln School is one instance we have in mind. The folks in Sunset did not want their children bussed to other schools but to conform to the screwball verdict of the Supreme Court we have to take these children from the school close to home and scatter them all over the district.

We have never heard a single resident of Sunset say they wanted their children removed from the school in their home area.

We guess we have lived too long or else the world moves to fast for us.

ORDER IN THE STREETS

President Johnson's Commission on the Causes and Prevention of Violence begins a series of hearings in Washington on Wednesday (Sept. 18).

The star witnesses at the hearings of the President's Commission on Violence which begin on Wednesday will be Attorney Gen. Ramsey Clark and J. Edgar Hoover, director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation. The hearings, though bearing directly on the belly issue in the 1968 Presidential election campaign, are rendered by their scheduling somewhat irrelevant.

The commission was appointed by President Johnson on June 5, following the assassination of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy (D-N.Y.). It has until next June 10 to file a report. It has set for itself a tentative goal of submitting preliminary findings to President Johnson before he leaves office on Jan. 20. None of this timing seems likely to affect directly the election on Nov. 5.

Some of the hearings may be open to the public, Lloyd N. Cutler, director of the inquiry, said on Sept. 5. The early hearings will not deal with the violence attending the Democratic National Convention in Chicago or outbreaks in Miami or Cleveland. But special study groups will be assigned to these subjects.

The job before the Presidential commission will be one of concentration. Violence is so much a part of contemporary life that the commission will not lack evidence. Uniform Crime Reports -- 1967, released Aug. 26 by the FBI, showed a one-year rise in serious crimes, 1967 over 1966, or 16 per cent. More than 3.8 million serious crimes were committed last year.

For every 100,000 persons there were 1,922 serious crimes, an increase of 15 per cent in the crime rate over 1966. More than 494,500 serious crimes of violence were reported, including more than 12,000 homicides, an increase of 15 per cent in the crime rate over last year.

The most frequently arrested of all age groups are 15-year-olds. Of offenders released from prison, roughly a third will be reimprisoned within a five-year period. The 15-17 year olds lead all other age groups in arrests for burglary, larceny, auto theft. The data in this paragraph come from the report of the President's Commission on Enforcement and Administration of Justice.

The events in Chicago have been variously interpreted. "Chicago under Mayor (Richard) Daley," said Sen. Stephen Young (D-Ohio), on Sept. 4, "is a police state." His Ohio colleague, Sen. Frank Lausche (D) rebutted: "Black days lie ahead. If I were Ho Chi Minh, I would pay to have the people's confidence destroyed in their police."

Both Republican and Democratic platforms this year stress the need for law and order. The present deep distress only partly stems from racial troubles. Some 12.1 million persons over 14 live in ghettos. Of these, 42 per cent are Negroes. John Horton, assistant professor of sociology at the University of California at Los Angeles, observes: "Street culture exists in every low-income ghetto. It is shared by the hustling elements of the poor, whatever their nationality or color."

In a larger sense, as witnessed in Paris and Prague, violence today is international. Chief of Police Leonard G. Lawrence of Hamilton, Ont., was asked at a recent Rotary-sponsored international symposium on crime and violence if the world was not suffering an eruption of lawlessness unprecedented in history. Replied Chief Lawrence: "The short answer is yes."

"Nixon's top advisers show concern over Wallace's growing strength, could have more strength in the North than polls show" - that is the headline on a political story in the Thursday evening Post-Dispatch.

The Missouri pedestrian fatality toll for the first eight months of 1968 is the same as that which was recorded during the comparable period last year. Records of the Missouri State Highway Patrol show that 102 pedestrians were killed in each of the eight-month periods. Through August of this year, 55 persons lost their lives while walking in the urban areas of the State and 47 pedestrians died in rural traffic.

The Highway Patrol's Division of Safety, in a study of pedestrian fatalities from January thru August of this year, found that May had the most pedestrian deaths, 16. The month of June recorded 15; August accounted for 14; the months of January and March both claimed 13 pedestrians; April, 12; July had 11 persons killed while walking; and February recorded 8 pedestrian deaths in Missouri.

The study also showed that an average of nearly 13 pedestrians were killed each month during the eight-month period, or close to three a week, and about one every other day.

Colonel E. I. (Mike) Hockaday, the Patrol Superintendent, stated, "While the pedestrian fatality toll has not played a major role in this year's increasing number of traffic deaths, there is surely room for improvement in the walking habits of many pedestrians. Those who walk in traffic have a responsibility to be familiar with and practice all the safety rules pertaining to them."

The Patrol Superintendent also noted that the next three months may be a tragic time for pedestrians if last year's toll is any indication. Fifty nine pedestrians were killed in Missouri during the last three months of 1967--an average of nearly 20 a month.

OLYMPICS BOUND? MEXICO CITY'S RARE AIR CALLS FOR SPECIAL CARE

Heard any good borborygni lately? You may if you're one of the many Americans going to the Olympics in Mexico City next month.

Borborygm, or gastric growls, are just your stomach's way of letting you know it's hard at work. And don't be surprised if you hear a little more than usual from your lungs and heart, too. For most people, it's nothing to worry about--just the higher altitude speeding up some parts of you and slowing down others.

Physician's caution, however, that some health problems may occur because there's less oxygen in the air at Mexico City's mile and a half elevation. Up there, you may feel yourself breathing a little faster and deeper, as your lungs try to make for the oxygen shortage. You might notice your heart pounding slightly as it make a kid delicious with joy by giving him a big dollar pocket watch, which he promptly tied to a belt loop with a string.

Railroad men and coal miners might go on strike, but teachers never did.

You could buy a decent lunch for only a little more than you now have to pay in sales taxes on one in some U.S. cities today.

A business executive rarely saw his secretary's kneecap, and she generally wore a rubber-tipped eraser thrust through her bun of long hair.

Fish was especially prized as a brain food, and few dared drink milk with it for fear that the combination would poison them.

In rural areas the children would assemble outside the home of newlyweds on their honeymoon night and "shivaree" them--beating on tin pans and making other loud noises until the bridegroom came to the window and threw down some coins to break up the mock serenade.

Ailing old people, when they felt the miseries, usually first consulted the druggist on what patent medicine to take, as then they wouldn't have to pay $1.50 or $2 to the doctor. Quite a few survived.

A father was the head of the family, and his word was law, no more to be questioned by a child than were the Scriptures.

Those were the days! Remember?

pumps a little harder to keep blood with sufficient oxygen in it, making the usual rounds. And your stomach, which goes a little slower up there, will give you an occasional rumble if you rush it.

You may react to the altitude by getting tired more easily, or, paradoxically, by becoming more active and unable to sleep as well. You might get a little giddy, excited or even argumentative.

If effects may be more bothersome to people with chest, heart or anemia problems because they're best off with more, not less, oxygen. Physicians advise a check with the family doctor before leaving in such cases.

There's no way for Olympic travelers to duck the higher altitude, but there are some ways you can keep it from getting you down.

Unless you've been in training all summer, leave the exertions to the athletes. Strenuous climbing or running -- to catch the tour bus, for example -- is best avoided.

At a recent luncheon, a speaker observed that we find children charming because they are growing.

I like the thought because I believe it offers a clue to the source of what we know as charm. Most things in nature are lovely in their growing state. The minute that growth ceases, decay begins.

Fortunately, human beings can grow as long as they can breathe. Men and women in their 70s are charming if their minds are alert and if they are interested in their environment. I recently read extracts from the journal of John Burroughs. He began the journal when he was 40 and he was making entries when he was 83. The quality of the observation and expression in the later writings gives no suggestion of age.

Although an octogenarian, Burroughs was alive, still able to see beauty in common things and still able to get a thrill from learning something new.

DANGEROUS CANAL TREATIES

The issue of whether the U.S. should give up its control of the Panama Canal Zone, as proposed in treaties, is one that should be considered carefully in this fall's election campaign. It is a subject that deserves to be taken before the American people.

The proposed treaties, if ratified by the U.S. Senate and the government of Panama, would surrender our sovereign rights to the Canal Zone, abolish the Panama Canal Board, set up a dual operating authority, greatly increase the annual payment to Panama by increasing the tolls, and give all Canal property in the Zone not used by the Canal to Panama.

On withdrawal under these treaties would open the way for communist expansion in the Western Hemisphere. As Rep. John P. Saylor of Pennsylvania recently declared in the U.S. House of Representatives: "Eight hundred American workers perished in the construction of the Canal before the Aneon steamed through it on August 15, 1914. Once it is given away and the communists take over -- as surely they would -- it will take many times that many American servicemen to get it back -- or what was left of it."

The Canal Zone is our most costly territorial acquisition. Through the years the United States has shown great generosity in increasing annual payments and making other concessions to Panama. It is highly doubtful that most Americans will favor giving up the Canal and thus playing into the hands of the communists, who are seeking to get control of vital waterways. The question is a proper campaign issue. H.L.H.

DREW PEARSON AND JACK ANDERSON SAY: Rep. Bob Wilson is money-raiser par excellence. Democratic colleagues are bustling to keep up. House tolerates roll call vote fraud.

TWO BEST SELLERS
The New York Times best seller list last Sunday revealed something unique in the Literary World--two best sellers by the same author, one fiction, the other non-fiction.

A novel by Drew Pearson, "The Senator," ranked sixth on the New York Times best seller list, while "The Case Against Congress" by Drew Pearson and Jack Anderson ranked sixth on the non-fiction list.

Publishers say they can remember no other recent case when an author has had books found on the fiction and non-fiction list at the same time.

WASHINGTON--If you look over the campaign funds raised in the North Hollywood costing by Republicans for the $1,000 a month for rent in reelection of Congressmen, you contrast to Rep. Corman's can understand why fund-raising storefront headquarters costing chairman Bob Wilson of San $100 a month.

Weber has been so flush that he's giving housewives thousands of sewing kits, plus chains worth about 25 cents each. His campaign slogan is "I'll do more for you," a very dubious promise inasmuch as Dick McCarthy, his opponent, has chalked up an amazing record in securing some $50 million to clean up the pollution in Lake Erie near Buffalo.

Fat-cat money already has shown up in other areas on the unprecedented scale. In the 4th district of New Jersey, represented by liberal Democrat Frank Thompson, GOP nominee Sydney S. Souter has spent an ethics committee, but most congressmen are reluctant to do this. It violates the rules of "The Club."

FLUSH CONGRESSMEN
Meanwhile, thanks to Rep. Wilson's ability both to raise money and falsify the roll call records of the House, a lot of his Democratic Colleagues are looking for raise additional money to combat Wilson's fund-raising.

Rep. James Corman, Democrat of Los Angeles County, for instance, is being confronted with a $100,000 campaign fund used by former Rep. Joe Holt, Republican, running against him. Holt is one of the Ultra-right wingers of Southern California, and a son of one of the contributors to the case Nixon $18,000 personal expense fund in 1952.

Holt has spent an estimated $20,000 for billboards, and operates a gigantic headquarters over the campaign funds raised in North Hollywood costing by Republicans for the $1,000 a month for rent in reelection of Congressmen, you contrast to Rep. Corman's can understand why fund-raising storefront headquarters costing chairman Bob Wilson of San $100 a month.

Fat-cat money already has shown up in other areas on the unprecedented scale. In the 4th district of New Jersey, represented by liberal Democrat Frank Thompson, GOP nominee Sydney S. Souter has spent an estimated $25,000 on billboards, $15,000 for a mobile headquarters, plus unknown thousands for bumper stickers, placards and other campaign material.

Souter also has shelled out thousands for public relations, including $8,000 for a press agent.

T-SHIRTS AND POLITICS
Money is also pouring in to defeat Rep. John Culver of Iowa. His GOP foe, Tom Riley, a Cedar Rapids attorney, though a Presbyterian, hopes with his name to roll up a heavy Catholic vote. He has hired a high-priced Chicago public relations firm, bought numerous full-page ads, and has been spending thousands on mail to farmers. He has his own portable booth for county fairs and has plastered the district with "Riley" billboards--paid for, in part, by money raised by Bob Wilson outside of Iowa.

On Long Island, the Republicans are even spending thousands on T-shirts to unseat Rep. Lester Wolff. An estimated 10,000 T-shirts with the legend "Seldin for Congress," are being handed out by Wolff's GOP foe, Abe Seldin, Long Island Insurance Agent. Big oil also has joined in the battle against Wolff, because of his efforts to repeal the tax-dodging oil depletion allowance.

Texaco lollipops are handed out by Seldin workers wearing his T-shirts. The Republicans have a reported $135,000 of the bill to beat Wolff, much of it to be spent for TV plugs in October.

In New Jersey, J. Russell Wooley, Monmouth County GOP leader, has been boasting that he has another $135,000 of Republican money to defeat incumbent Democrat James J. Howard, a liberal who also has been fighting for repeal of the oil depletion allowance.

When the GOP leader was asked how much broadcasting time he was allotting to the congressional race, Wooley replied:

"For the time being, none. Our congressional candidate doesn't need any broadcasting help from us at the moment. He's getting all the money he needs from outside sources."

That's how efficient Bob Wilson has been while he was cheating on his vote in Congress.

POOR CHARLIE SAYS!
WORLD SERIES TIME

Legend has it that Mexican badman Pancho Villa once postponed a raid until after the World Series so he could be assured of making the front pages. A half-century later baseball is hard put to press its claim as America's national pastime. But for a few days every autumn it can still rise above its own fading image and dispel more worldly concerns from the American mind and news columns.

That time of year is here again. The World Series opens in St. Louis where the defending champion Cardinals meet the Detroit Tigers, Wednesday, Oct. 2. For baseball fans the series would provide welcome respite from one of the dullest seasons within memory. There was no rousing finish in either the National or American league. And the dullness was compounded by a growing scarcity of .300 hitters.

It has been, Time magazine proclaimed (Sept. 13), "The Year of the Pitcher." In this year of wondrous pitching, Detroit's Denny McLain is king. He became the first pitcher since Dizzy Dean in 1934 to win 30 games or more. Like Diz in his day, McLain is brashly confident and ready made for a fickle sports public instantly to cherish or dislike.

McLain may not be the best among his peers, Shirley Povich of the Washington Post has suggested. The sports editor touts Bob Gibson of St. Louis as McLain's equal. When Gibson takes the mound against McLain, baseball buffs can judge for themselves. And there, sports fans, is the makings of another World Series.

We understand that Lynn Twitty our efficient and popular Superintendent of education made a talk on the radio Thursday morning in which he says don't believe all the rumors you hear that there are generally two sides to all stories.

Well if Mr. Twitty wants to know some facts we can give him time, place and who got slapped and who did the slapping.

Smoking and matches annually rank as the Number 1 cause of fires in the U.S. Last year alone, reports the National Fire Protection Association, 160,000 building fires were begun through careless handling of smoking materials.

FREE ENTERPRISE DAY

Just about every day of the year has been set aside for observance of an event, an institution or a notable figure in the nation's history. A day of this kind is scheduled on the calendar for October 2 — an occasion that not one person in a thousand will note or will be aware of. In the Calendar of Days, October 2 is identified simply as Free Enterprise Day, whose purpose is: "To show appreciation of America's Free Enterprise System, by reminding ourselves of its benefits and pledging its continued support."

We have all heard the term free enterprise, but in this day of super-government, high taxes, crushing public debt and detailed regulation of nearly every human activity, free enterprise has lost much of its meaning. It has ceased to exist in the pure traditional sense and sadly enough because of that, basic liberties have been circumscribed to a far greater extent than most of us realize. In fact, many writers and commentators shy away from the expression "free enterprise," because they feel it has become meaningless.

Free enterprise is far from meaningless. It is separable from representative government. Officially, it is defined by Webster as "an economic system in which primary reliance is placed upon private business operating in competitive markets to satisfy consumer demands and to maintain equilibrium in the national economy and in which government action in this respect is restricted to protecting the rights of individuals rather than acting as a directing economic force." Thus, Free Enterprise Day holds genuine meaning for all of us.

One thing we guess we will never understand and that is why we have to force desegregation on those who do not desire it or want it.

Lincoln School is one instance we have in mind. The folks in Sunset did not want their children bussed to other schools but to conform to the screwball verdict of the Supreme Court we have to take these children from the school close to home and scatter them all over the district.

We have never heard a single resident of Sunset say they wanted their children removed from the school in their home area.

We guess we have lived too long or else the world moves to fast for us.

USING THE FOLLOWING tips for the month of October you can find suggestions for special promotional themes:

- Oct. 1-31 - Let's Go Hunting Month, National Indoor Games Month, National Restaurant Month, Pizza Festival Time Month.
- Oct. 1-5 National Coffee Week, National Lath and Plaster week.
- Oct. 2 - Yom Kippur.
- Oct. 6-12 - National Newspaper Week, International Letter Writing Week, National Test Your Battery Week, National Save the Horse Week.
- Oct. 12 - Columbus Day, Olympic Games open in Mexico City.
- Oct. 20-26 - National Cleaner Air Week.
- Oct. 24 - United Nations Day; to Oct. 31, National Popcorn week.
- Oct. 31 - Halloween.

Then there are two months to go in 1968. November has Children's Book Week, Election Day, American Education Week; Veterans' Day, National Stamp Collecting Week, Sadie Hawkins Day and, of course, Thanksgiving.

ORDER IN THE STREETS

President Johnson's Commission on the Causes and Prevention of Violence begins a series of hearings in Washington on Wednesday (Sept. 18).

The star witnesses at the hearings of the President's Commission on Violence which begin on Wednesday will be Attorney Gen. Ramsey Clark and J. Edgar Hoover, director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation. The hearings, though bearing directly on the belly issue in the 1968 Presidential election campaign, are rendered by their scheduling somewhat irrelevant.

The commission was appointed by President Johnson on June 5, following the assassination of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy (D-N.Y.). It has until next June 10 to file a report. It has set for itself a tentative goal of submitting preliminary findings to President Johnson before he leaves office on Jan. 20. None of this timing seems likely to affect directly the election on Nov. 5.

Some of the hearings may be open to the public. Lloyd N. Cutler, director of the inquiry, said on Sept. 5. The early hearings will not deal with the violence attending the Democratic National Convention in Chicago or outbreaks in Miami or Cleveland. But special study groups will be assigned to these subjects.

The job before the Presidential commission will be one of concentration. Violence is so much a part of contemporary life that the commission will not lack evidence. Uniform Crime Reports — 1967, released Aug. 26 by the FBI, showed a one-year rise in serious crimes, 1967 over 1966, or 16 per cent. More than 3.8 million serious crimes were committed last year.

For every 100,000 persons there were 1,922 serious crimes, an increase of 15 per cent in the crime rate over 1966. More than 494,500 serious crimes of violence were reported, including more than 12,000 homicides, an increase of 15 per cent in the crime rate over last year.

The most frequently arrested of all age groups are 15-year-olds. Of offenders released from prison, roughly a third will be reimprisoned within a five-year period. The 15-17 year olds lead all other age groups in arrests for burglary, larceny, auto theft. The data in this paragraph come from the report of the President's Commission on Enforcement and Administration of Justice.

The events in Chicago have been variously interpreted. "Chicago under Mayor (Richard) Daley," said Sen. Stephen Young (D-Ohio), on Sept. 4, "is a police state." His Ohio colleague, Sen. Frank Lausche (D) rebutted: "Black days lie ahead. If I were Ho Chi Minh, I would pay to have the people's confidence destroyed in their police."

Both Republican and Democratic platforms this year stress the need for law and order. The present deep distress only partly stems from racial troubles. Some 12.1 million persons over 14 live in ghettos. Of these, 42 per cent are Negroes. John Horton, assistant professor of sociology at the University of California at Los Angeles, observes: "Street culture exists in every low-income ghetto. It is shared by the hustling elements of the poor, whatever their nationality or color."

In a larger sense, as witnessed in Paris and Prague, violence today is international. Chief of Police Leonard G. Lawrence of Hamilton, Ont., was asked at a recent Rotary-sponsored international symposium on crime and violence if the world was not suffering an eruption of lawlessness unprecedented in history. Replied Chief Lawrence: "The short answer is yes."

The Missouri pedestrian fatality toll for the first eight months of 1968 is the same as that which was recorded during the comparable period last year.

Records of the Missouri State Highway Patrol show that 102 pedestrians were killed in each of the eight-month periods. Through August of this year, 55 persons lost their lives while walking in the urban areas of the State and 47 pedestrians died in rural traffic.

The Highway Patrol's Division of Safety, in a study of pedestrian fatalities from January thru August of this year, found that May had the most pedestrian deaths, 16. The month of June recorded 15; August accounted for 14; the months of January and March both claimed 13 pedestrians; April, 12; July had 11 persons killed while walking; and February recorded 8 pedestrian deaths in Missouri.

The study also showed that an average of nearly 13 pedestrians were killed each month during the eight-month period, or close to three a week, and about one every other day.

NEW YORK (AP) — Memory is a thought garage.

We park in it our ideas and recollections of the past. They are wonderful vehicles and take us on the most magic journeys.

They do have only one gear—a reverse gear—that enables us to travel in only one direction: backward to vanished days.

But in a way isn't that a blessing? It can be greatly comforting. We all enjoy a return to the past, because we have survived the past, and can review in our thoughts those portions of it that please us and renew our strength to face present problems.

How awful it might be if, when we pushed a mental button, our thought garage delivered a vehicle that would take us only forward into the future. What terrible rides, what fearful journeys, we might take upon that one-way speedway No road signs to guide us, no telling where we'd end up.

No, memory is more to be trusted than the crystal ball. It is better for our peace of mind. And the thought garage of your own memory is pretty crowded if you can look back and remember when—

You thought that if you picked up a toad you were sure to break out all over with warts. All a woman needed to do to win a reputation as a bohemian sophisticate was to smoke her cigarettes in a long silver and ebony holder.

Colonel E. I. (Mike) Hockaday, the Patrol Superintendent, stated, "While the pedestrian fatality toll has not played a major role in this year's increasing number of traffic deaths, there is surely room for improvement in the walking habits of many pedestrians. Those who walk in traffic have a responsibility to be familiar with and practice all the safety rules pertaining to them."

The Patrol Superintendent also noted that the next three months may be a tragic time for pedestrians if last year's toll is any indication. Fifty nine pedestrians were killed in Missouri during the last three months of 1967—an average of nearly 20 a month.

Physicians caution, however, that some health problems may occur because there's less oxygen in the air at Mexico City's mile and a half elevation.

Up there, you may feel yourself breathing a little faster and deeper, as your lungs try to make for the oxygen shortage. You might notice your heart pounding slightly as it pumps a little harder to keep blood with sufficient oxygen in it making the usual rounds. And your stomach, which goes a little slower up there, will give you an occasional rumble if you rush it.

You may react to the altitude by getting tired more easily, or, paradoxically, by becoming more active and unable to sleep as well. You might get a little giddy, excited or even argumentative.

If effects may be more bothersome to people with chest, heart or anemia problems because they're best off with more, not less, oxygen. Physicians advise a check with the family doctor before leaving in such cases.

At a recent luncheon, a speaker observed that we find children charming because they are growing.

I like the thought because I believe it offers a clue to the source of what we know as charm. Most things in nature are loveliest in their growing state. The minute that growth ceases, decay begins.

Fortunately, human beings can grow as long as they can breathe. Men and women in their 70s are charming if their minds are alert and if they are interested in their environment. I recently read extracts from the journal of John Burroughs. He began the journal when he was 40 and he was making entries when he was 83. The quality of the observation and expression in the later writings gives no suggestion of age.

Although an octogenarian, Burroughs was alive, still able to see beauty in common things and still able to get a thrill from learning something new.

A merchant tried in vain to obtain some money from a delinquent account. Threats proved fruitless and in desperation the man enclosed a snapshot of his wife and seven children, with the following notation written on the back: "The reason I need the money."

By return mail came another snapshot, this one showing a voluptuous blonde in a bikini and posing provocatively. Scribbled hurriedly on the back of this picture were the words: "The reason I can't pay."

DANGEROUS CANAL TREATIES

The issue of whether the U.S. should give up its control of the Panama Canal Zone, as proposed in treaties, is one that should be considered carefully in this fall's election campaign. It is a subject that deserves to be taken before the American people.

The proposed treaties, if ratified by the U.S. Senate and the government of Panama, would surrender our sovereign rights to the Canal Zone, abolish the Panama Canal Board, set up a dual operating authority, greatly increase the annual payment to Panama by increasing the tolls, and give all Canal property in the Zone not used by the Canal to Panama.

Our withdrawal under these treaties would open the way for communist expansion in the Western Hemisphere. As Rep. John P. Saylor of Pennsylvania recently declared in the U.S. House of Representatives: "Eight hundred American workers perished in the construction of the Canal before the Aneon steamed through it on August 15, 1914. Once it is given away and the communists take over — as surely they would — it will take many times that many American servicemen to get it back — or what was left of it."

The Canal Zone is our most costly territorial acquisition. Through the years the United States has shown great generosity in increasing annual payments and making other concessions to Panama. It is highly doubtful that most Americans will favor giving up the Canal and thus playing into the hands of the communists, who are seeking to get control of vital waterways. The question is a proper campaign issue. H.L.H.

Meanwhile, thanks to Rep. Wilson's ability both to raise money and falsify the roll call records of the House, a lot of his Democratic Colleagues are having to raise additional money to combat Wilson's fund-raising.

Rep. James Corman, Democrat of Los Angeles County, for instance, is being confronted with a $100,000 campaign fund used by former Rep. Joe Holt, Republican, running against him. Holt is one of the Ultra-right wingers of Southern California, and a son of one of the contributors to the remember no other recent case when an author has had books on the fiction and non-fiction list at the same time.

WASHINGTON—If you look over the campaign funds raised in reelection of Congressmen, you can understand why fund-raising storefront headquarters costing chairman Bob Wilson of San $100 a month.

Another GOP candidate with money is and yet simultaneously thanks to Bob Wilson is Daniel pretended to be answering roll E. Weber of New York, who is calls in the House of trying to unseat Democrat Rep. Representatives. Wilson has done Richard McCarthy of the an amazing job of money-raising. Buffalo area.

Nevertheless, congressional leaders of neither party could recall a recent case where a white backlash spellbinder. Congressman had arranged to have someone else deliberately answer the roll call for him when kitty, having spent $65,000 for Pandemonium which usually exists on the House floor, this now having an estimated would be not too difficult to do, $140,000 on hand to try to take However, it has not been done as far as the General Election in as leaders could recall in the November.

The House now has an ethics committee, under House rules the Committee cannot act unless another member makes an official complaint. And it has been difficult for such a complaint to be registered on the House floor. When Rep. Joe Resnick, D-N.Y., called attention to the transgressions of Sen. Tom Dodd, D-Conn., he was promptly rapped out of order by speaker John McCormack.

It is possible for a member to file a written complaint with the ethics committee, but most congressmen are reluctant to do this. It violates the rules of "The Club."

Eisenhower-Nixon Wedding to Be Soon

AMHERST, Mass. AP - David Eisenhower says he's confident he and Julie Nixon will have a White House reception after their wedding.

David, who played in the White House when his grandfather was president, said he and the younger daughter of the man who was Dwight Eisenhower's vice president want "a nice, quiet wedding and it will be relatively soon."

The Sikeston Junior Woman's club met Sept. 23 at 7:30 p.m. at the Holiday Inn. President, Linda Norton presided with 41 members present.

Special guest was Mrs. W. A. Ownbey of Cape Girardeau, past President of 9th District No. 1, Federation Women's Club and state division chairman of the home life department. Mrs. Ownbey presented the club with a gold bowl presented to the club having the greatest increase in membership. She reminded the club that in order to prevent the trophy from traveling to another club, it would have to add new members this year.

The program was presented by Miss Linda Johnson, who showed slides and gave a discussion on her trip to Europe last summer. In 15 days she toured London, Germany, Holland, Austria, Italy, Switzerland and France after refreshments club members examined articles she brought from the countries.

Hostesses were Joanie Stoner, Jean Welch and Charlotte Ryan, Sharon Hatley, Nella Nash. Prizes were won by Mrs. C. A. Carter, Mrs. Jim Siskel, and Mrs. Ron Carmody.

The October meeting will be held Oct. 28 at 6:30 p.m. and will be at the diagnostic clinic.

PTA Meets

The Southwest school Parent-Teacher Association met Sept. 23 in the auditorium with Mrs. C. A. Carter, Mrs. Jim Siskel, and Mrs. Ron Carmody.

ORAN - Elizabeth Faye Schott, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leo S. Schott, route one, became the bride of Sp/5 John Hugo Bryeans, son of James Bryeans, Oran, and Mrs. Dorothy Bryeans, of St. Louis, Sept. 21, in St. Joseph Catholic church in Advance, with the Rev. Fr. John Wells officiating.

The decorations for the double ring ceremony were baskets of daisies and white gladioli. Miss Vickie Lape, Marble Hill, provided the organ music. The bride, given by her father, wore a white bridal gown with a floor-length train attached at the waistline. A tulle veil was secured to the crown headpiece. She carried a bouquet of white daisies with greenery, and ribbons tied in lovers' knots.

Sharon Mitchem, Oran, was the maid of honor. Other attendants were Linda Eftink, for Oran, and Janet Schott, sister of the bride. They wore yellow, red and pink dresses similar to the bride's.

The groom's attendants were Jerome Eftink, Lutesville; Donald Kiehn, Benton; and Albert Beal, Lutesville.

The bride's mother, Mrs. Leo Schott, wore a powder blue double knit, sheet dress with white accessories, blue hat, and white carnation.

The groom's mother, Mrs. Dorothy Bryeans, wore a light beige suit with matching accessories and a white carnation.

The couple entertained at a reception in the home of the bride's parents. The table was decorated in white and pink, with one pink and white, three tiered cake, and one yellow, two-tiered cake. Serving at the reception were Mrs. Charles Eftink, Oran, and Mrs. Annabel Arnold, Perkins.

Sp/5 and Mrs. John Bryeans will leave Thursday for Germany, where he is stationed with the army. They plan to visit Paris, before reporting for duty.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She was wearing a gown of Peau de soie fashioned with an empire waist and a high old fashioned neck with long bell sleeves.

She carried a cascading bouquet of white Fuji mums mingled with white carnations.

Maid of honor was Miss Melba Hawley, sister of the bride. She was attired in a light pink satin, empire dress with hot pink chiffon draped over the satin. Her bouquet was of pink baby mums.

Candlelighters were Mrs. Patty Kinder of Dexter and Mrs. Brenda Pounds of Poplar Bluff. Both wore dresses of pink bonded crepe and white accessories.

Best man was Mike Jones of St. Louis. Ushers were Mr. Kim Woolard of Dexter and Mr. Gilbert Woolard of St. Louis. The men were attired in dark suits with white carnation boutonnieres.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the Union Hall at Dexter. Serving cake and punch were Miss Sandra Overby, Cape Girardeau, Mrs. Teresa Mick, and Mrs. Laura Fowler, Dexter.

The former Miss Hawley is a 1967 graduate of Dexter High School. She was working at Sikeston at Howard and Carol Beauty Arts.

The bridegroom graduated in 1965 from Dexter High School and is now working on an engineering degree at Rolla. The young couple will make their home at 401 Park St., Rolla.

Conservation Department Sets Standards On Tigers, Permits

The state of Michigan has no native tigers. If Michigan, in a recent release from that state's Conservation Department, claims to have tigers, they very likely are the kind that belong in a zoo.

At any rate, that is the opinion of experts with the Missouri Department of Conservation, where the special appeal of this state's native Cardinals was recently defended.

The Michigan Conservation Department in a late-September release, declared its intention of opening a special hunting season on Cardinals that migrate to Michigan on Oct. 5, 6 and 7.

Wildlife authorities here said the Michigan officials might be confusing real tigers, found on this continent only in the Columbia, Mo., vicinity, with stray pussycats seen often in the back alleys of Detroit streets. Missouri game experts said the Detroit felines are predatory animals, but better suited to chasing mice than Cardinals.

The two species, Detroit, Michigan's tame tabbies and Missouri Cardinals specially preened in the St. Louis area, will be brought together for a critical review of their comparative qualities. Although the Michigan mousers will appear for two days in St. Louis, Oct. 2 and 3, wildlife officials said no hunting of them will be permitted. "Hunting is not necessary as a control factor in this case," one spokesman said. "A Missouri species known scientifically as 'El Birdos' seems to keep these timid creatures under excellent control."

"In fact," he said, "it is very likely the Missouri predators will need only two in which to establish control."

Following the two-day field trial in St. Louis, the Missouri birds are expected to pursue their quarry into Detroit for two more days of instruction and reprimand.

State Forester Osal B. Capps will represent Missouri at a special meeting at Memphis, Tenn., of the International Poplar Council on Sept. 30, following a tour of natural stands and plantings of cottonwood in the Missouri Bootheel.

The Poplar Council includes representatives from Argentina, Belgium, Canada, England, France, Italy, Japan, The Netherlands and Romania.

Cottonwood, one of the most important poplars, is a commercially valuable tree in Missouri, where it grows rapidly and is used for lumber,

Discuss Strike

CHICAGO (AP) — Major league umpires, angered at the firing of two compatriots, Monday decided to join forces after ruling out a World Series strike.

Al Salerno and Bill Valentine were fired by American League President Joe Cronin for incompetence two weeks ago.

However, Salerno and Valentine claim they were fired for trying to organize American League umpires.

Umpires of both leagues met in Chicago Monday and voted to form a joint association. If Salerno and Valentine are not reinstated, the new group is expected to strike next spring.

Cronin, reached in Boston, said he had no comment until he received a formal statement.

Word was that the umpires wanted to strike the World Series but Jack Reynolds, a Chicago attorney who helped organize the National League umpires, talked them out of it.

In addition, both Salerno and Valentine issued a joint statement saying, "We do not wish to deprive the American people and baseball fans of their annual classic due to the wrongful conduct of one man."

After touring the plantations and other installations of Missouri, the Council will continue a journey southward in the Mississippi Delta to New Orleans. Missouri tour guides will be John Wylie and Clell Solomon of the Missouri Conservation Department's forestry division.

Anytime the St. Louis Cardinals have to be prodded you can bet Bob Gibson will be there with the biggest needle.

Gibson is like that. He can whip a pointed comment past a teammate just about as fast as he throws a baseball past the opposition. And there's too much truth in his barbs to allow anyone to comeback. It's his form of constructive criticism.

Of course, it doesn't always work. The night in San Francisco, Gibson was to pitch against the Giants' Gaylord Perry. The Cardinals were in the midst of a two-month slump that still has everybody wondering if they'll come out of it by the time the World Series starts.

"Before the game that night I told the guys I didn't need them. I'd win without them," Gibson grinned. "Then about the fifth inning I looked at all of them in the dugout and 'All right you guys, come on, only kidding.'"

It didn't work. Perry pitched no-hitter against the Cardinals that night and beat them 1-0. The next night, though, Ray Washburn came back and fired a no-hitter against the Cardinals.

Gibson can laugh at himself and he expects others to be able to laugh at themselves. He means everything he said, because he can't see any other reason for talking. He is so frank that people sometimes mistake it for hostility. He's a tough guy to understand. It's simply that Gibson is direct. As direct in his speech as he is in his pitching.

And his pitching is direct. A crackling fastball, vicious slider, and maybe a curveball when the other two pitches are not real good. "And I fall over on my follow through and I trip sometimes," Gibson laughed. "And I throw a changeup once every three months."

Whatever he throws, it's always in a hurry. He warms up so fast you sometimes expect him to throw from the dugout. He has been known to yell at batters and tell them to hit. He's the money pitcher on the Cardinals, maybe the best in the National League.

That's why he'll face Denny McLain of the Detroit Tigers in the opening World Series game Wednesday.

Both men had exceptional years. Gibson won 15 straight games and became a 20-game winner for the third time in his career. He also forged a record low earned run average. McLain became the first 30-game winner since the Cards' Dizzy Dean in 1934.

Ask Gibson who had the better year and he'll probably say McLain, because he won more games. Ask Gibson how he feels about facing McLain and he says: "I don't have to beat McLain. I have to beat the Tigers. The Detroit Tigers."

On Wall Street, where the men vastly outnumber the women, stockbrokers and clerks began to notice the shapely young lady a few weeks ago. Each day about 1:30 p.m. she emerged from the subway in front of the New York Stock Exchange and walked briskly down Broad Street toward her job as an IBM machine operator at Chemical Bank New York Trust Co. She usually wore a tight sweater or blouse and, since her figure was 43-25-37, the number of watchers who waited for her increased as the week went around. One day last week, the crowd grew to 5,000, jamming Broad Street and covering the steps of the Subtreasury Building. Brokers and clerks peered from every window, photographers and reporters jostled for advantage. The object of all this attention, Francine Gottfried, 21, had to be rescued from the mob by police. Next day, the waiting crowd grew to 10,000—but Francine did not show up. At her home in Brooklyn, she said: "I'm just an ordinary girl. These people have all the responsibility of handling millions of dollars, and they act like they're out of their minds." Still, Francine's stock continued to rise as she was besieged by inquiries from TV shows, agents and film studios.

GETTING THE FEELING before going on her South African tour, Australian singer Lana Cantrell visited one of New York City's Afro-American shops. Here, she models an African robe and, to complete the picture, holds a spear and stands barefoot.

ARMY CHIEF OF STAFF General W. C. Westmoreland presents Bob Hope with a replica of the cornerstone for the Bob Hope Chapter Building of the USO, soon to be built in Hollywood. The presentation was made during a USO benefit show held at the Anaheim Stadium, Anaheim, Calif. In his remarks General Westmoreland expressed the Army's appreciation for all that Bob Hope, volunteer entertainers and the USO has done for our soldiers serving overseas. GROTESQUE and incredible, the mudmen of New Guinea wear strange costumes to provide the highlight for tourists attending the annual agriculture and trade show at Goroka, some 60 miles southeast of Lae.

DUBCEK'S SUCCESSOR? Compromise-minded Gustav Husak appears to be emerging as the Kremlin's choice to take over Communist party leadership from Alexander Dubcek to speed what the Soviet Union calls "normalization" of Czechoslovakia.

VIEWING MANHATTAN. Judith Anne Ford, Miss America of 1969, sets out to see New York City. The 18-year-old beauty from Belvidere, Ill., herself provided one of the city's best sights as she toured the metropolis.

SILHOUETTED against a setting sun is an airplane wing standing on end as a memorial to John J. Montgomery, one of the little-known pioneers in aviation. Montgomery made man's first controlled-winged flights from this site near San Diego, Calif., 17 years before the famed Wright brothers flight, according to the monument inscription.

Stubbs New Student in High School

50 years ago
October 1, 1918
High School notes. Chas. Stubbs of Blodgett entered Sikeston High School this week. Women wanted: We can give employment to one or two strong women who would like to learn the automobile business. L. C. Erdmann.
Morley -- Dr. C. D. Harris has sold his drug store to Mr. Spencer, who lately moved to Benton. Mr. Spencer will remove to this place.
Morehouse -- Lt. Dupre, a member of the aviation corps of Shreveport, La., enroute to Dexter, landed near Morehouse in Hunter's field to make inquiry as to where he was. After getting his bearings he stayed with us about 40 minutes and explained the parts and workings of his plane. Between three and four hundred people went out to see him. School was dismissed so the youngsters could see the plane.

To Write Well Try Reading A Little More Thoroughly

Dear Ann Landers: Usually I agree with your advice but this time your old-fashioned rigidity has turned me against you. I refer to the teen-age girl whose father blew up because she and her boyfriend were studying in the bedroom. You agreed with the parent.

Why all the fuss over a bedroom? Sex occurs on beaches, in haystacks, in cars, on back porches, in telephone booths and just about any place you can name. Sure, there's a bed in a bedroom, but if sex is what people have in mind they don't need a bed. A girl won't do something in her bedroom that she hasn't already done somewhere else.

My bedroom happens to be the best place in the house to study because it is quiet, private and has a desk in it. Thanks for letting me blow off a little steam. --FITCHERBERG, Mass.

Dear Fitch: You are a persuasive young lady -- but you left out a vital part of the father's complaint. The girl's bedroom door was locked. I wish you kids who write so well would read a little better.

Dear Ann Landers: To the guy who signed himself "Aristotle's Brother - in - Law"

Sickly Car Not Fault Of Manufacturer

By Jack Strauss, L.L.B.
Gavin went driving in his four-year-old car for some recreation and ended up with a wreck creation. He collided with a preceding automobile when his brakes failed to work. Pulling himself out of his pretzel - bent vehicle, he discovered that the brakes had copped out because the hydraulic fluid had leaked. Without ado, Gavin sued the manufacturer of his automobile for his injuries and the damage to his car.

"Since failing brakes can be disastrous," he complained in court, "the manufacturer had a duty to install a device that would forewarn a driver of any leakage or loss of brake fluid."

"It's not my obligation to make a car that will always be perfect," retorted the manufacturer. "While you can inoculate a person against the measles you can't inoculate a car against defects."

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you hold the manufacturer responsible for Gavin's accident? This is how the judge ruled: NO! The judge held that a manufacturer has no duty to furnish a machine that will never wear out or that will never require replacement of worn parts. His duty is merely to make it free of latent defects and concealed dangers. (Based upon a 1967 New York Supreme Court Decision) parents of a daughter born September 29th at St. Francis Hospital in Cape Girardeau. She has been named Martha Mae.

Center Opening To Be Delayed

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Struve moved this week from 231 William street to the former Sizemore residence at 112 South Scott street.

High school notes. Marilyn Yoffie, who has served all four of her high school years as council representative, achieved her greatest ambition when she was elected president of the council and student body last Thursday. Marilyn is the second girl ever to become president. Mary Ellen Bailey was the first to occupy this position.

and wondered what women do all day besides drink coffee and talk on the phone -- I found out when my wife had to go out of hospital. It was during my vacation so I had a real opportunity to play housewife full time.

I cooked three perfectly rotten meals every day, did nine loads of laundry, tried to iron some shorts and work shirts -- scorching the shorts and knocking the buttons off the shirts. I gave up trying to clean the house or make the beds. No sooner did I get one room in shape when the kids tore up the one I had just finished.

How my wife manages to keep up the house and yard, market, cook, wash and iron, take the kids to the dentist and Scouts, sew costumes for them, bake cakes and pies, do club work and drive her mother around, is beyond me.

The average American housewife is a miracle worker. Any guy who doubts it should try to walk in her tennis shoes for a couple of days. --SMARTER NOW

Dear Smarter: That sound blowing your kisses of women you hear is millions of women.

Dear Ann Landers: For five years, ever since Jean and our son Rob have been married, they have spent Mother's Day, Father's Day, Thanksgiving, Christmas, Easter and the 4th of July with the other grandparents. We get them on St. Patrick's Day and Labor Day.

This year we want Jean and Rob and the grandchildren with us for Thanksgiving or Christmas. My husband had a heart attack in April and his health is not good. Jean's parents are much younger than we are and they will probably have many more years to enjoy the little ones. Shall I speak to Jean's parents about releasing them? --WISHING FAIRNESS

Dear Wish: Releasing them from what? Did they sign a contract in blood? Talk to your son and Jean. Tell them how you feel. If they are interested in being fair, they will agree to alternate the Thanksgiving and Christmas holidays -- one with you and the other with Jean's parents.

Unsure of yourself on dates? What's right? What's wrong? Should you? Shouldn't you? Send for Ann Landers' booklet "Dating Do's and Don'ts," enclosing with your request 35 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Dear Sir:

We thought it was a good idea to send you this letter because we count on your help and on the cooperation of your newspaper to reach your readers with our Brazilian message of friendship.

We, the INTERNATIONAL FRIENDS, are hundreds of Brazilian people of both sexes, of all ages and professions, who have created an International Correspondence Club some months ago. Through correspondence with foreign friends, we intend to exchange ideas and knowledge, to promote better understanding among people from different countries, to obtain more stamps and viewcards for our collections, to exchange newspapers and magazines, to be better informed about other countries and to help foreign people know our country better.

We started our activities by sending a letter like this one to the most important newspapers in South America. In a few weeks, we received more than 17,000 letters from every single country in this Hemisphere, from Mexico to Argentina.

However, most of our members would like to have friends in other continents. From Haiti, Bolivia, Panama, Mexico, Venezuela, Colombia, Peru, Chile, Brazil, Uruguay and Argentina -- just to name the countries where we have more than a thousand members -- we received frequent requests of names and addresses of American penfriends.

This is, so, the aim of this letter. On behalf of our members, we beg you the very special favor of printing our invitation to your readers who have an interest in communicating themselves with our members in Latin America.

Your interested readers may send us their name and complete address, sex, occupation, languages that they can read and write well, and their preferred hobbies. They can write in English, French, Italian, Portuguese or Spanish --

Escapes At Cape Captured

CAPE GIRARDEAU--Two escapees, William E. Hampton, 24, and Curtis Choate, 28, from the Cape Girardeau jail Friday night, are back in their cells, thanks to the alertness of an Altenburg man, who picked them up in his car they were hitchhiking, the state patrol reported. The man was not identified.

He became suspicious and let them in the small town of Frohna, in Terry county, and reported it to the town marshal, who contacted the state highway patrol.

The state patrol captured the two men Saturday at 6:30 p.m.

High School notes. Chas. Stubbs of Blodgett entered Sikeston High School this week. Women wanted: We can give employment to one or two strong women who would like to learn the automobile business. L. C. Erdmann.

Morehouse - Dr. C. D. Harris has sold his drug store to Mr. Spencer, who lately moved to Benton. Mr. Spencer will remove to this place.

Morehouse - L. Dupre, a member of the aviation corps of Shreveport, La., enroute to Dexter, landed near Morehouse in Hunter's field to make inquiry as to where he was. After getting his bearings he stayed with us about 40 minutes and explained the parts and workings of his plane. Between three and four hundred people went out to see him. School was dismissed so the youngsters could see the plane.

Mrs. Rebecca Harper, mother of Mrs. A. E. Dunagan of Sikeston, died Sunday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Alice Wadell, in Thebes, Ill., and funeral services were conducted Monday.

A probable opening date for the opening of the Missouri Delta Community Hospital was set for November 1, according to a written statement given to The Standard today by E. P. Coleman, Jr., president of the hospital board.

The Williams Grocery Store, 315 South Scott street, was sold last Friday to Mr. and Mrs. Oda Henderson of St. Louis, according to an announcement made today by Eli Williams, former owner of the grocery.

E. F. Watson of Morley and his son, Bill, of Sikeston today purchased the Robert's Corner Grocery located at Kingshighway and Front streets.

Purchase of the store was made from Mr. and Mrs. Loy N. Roberts, who have operated the store for the past six years.

Miss Janice Myers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Myers, and Floyd E. Shepard, son of Mrs. Fleet Shepard of Ashland, Mo., will be married this evening at the Baptist Church.

In observance of her birthday Miss Lois Aldrich was complimented with a cake party at her home on West Gladys street Wednesday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Tate of St. Louis are parents of twin daughters born September 28 at Missouri Baptist Hospital in St. Louis. Grandparents of the twins are Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Johnson and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Tate all of Sikeston.

Mr. and Mrs. William Bess are parents of a daughter born September 29th at St. Francis Hospital in Cape Girardeau. She has been named Martha Mae.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Struwe moved this week from 231 William street to the former Sizemore residence at 112 South Scott street.

High school notes. Marilyn Yoffie, who has served all four of her high school years as council representative, achieved her greatest ambition when she was elected president of the council and student body last Thursday. Marilyn is the second girl ever to become president. Mary Ellen Bailey was the first to occupy this position.

To Write Well Try Reading A Little More Thoroughly

Dear Ann Landers: Usually I agree with your advice but this time your old-fashioned rigidity has turned me against you. I refer to the teenage girl whose father-blew up because she and her boyfriend were studying in the bedroom. You agreed with the parent.

Why all the fuss over a bedroom? Sex occurs on beaches, in haystacks, in cars, on back porches, in telephone booths and just about any place you can name. Sure, there's a bed in a bedroom, but if sex is what people have in mind they don't need a bed. A girl won't do something in her bedroom that she hasn't already done somewhere else.

My bedroom happens to be the best place in the house to study because it is quiet, private and has a desk in it. Thanks for letting me blow off a little steam. --FITCHERBERG, Mass.

Dear Fitch: You are a persuasive young lady -- but you left out a vital part of the father's complaint. The girl's bedroom door was locked. I wish you kids who write so well would read a little better.

Dear Ann Landers: To the guy who signed himself "Aristotle's Brother" in - Law"

Sickly Car Not Fault Of Manufacturer

By Jack Strauss, L.L.B.
Gavin went driving in his four-year-old car for some recreation and ended up with a wreck creation. He collided with a preceding automobile when his brakes failed to work. Pulling himself out of his pretzel - bent vehicle, he discovered that the brakes had copped out because the hydraulic fluid had leaked. Without ado, Gavin sued the manufacturer of his automobile for his injuries and the damage to his car.

"Since failing brakes can be disastrous," he complained in court, "the manufacturer had a duty to install a device that would forewarn a driver of any leakage or loss of brake fluid."

"It's not my obligation to make a car that will always be perfect," retorted the manufacturer. "While you can inoculate a person against the measles you can't inoculate a car against defects."

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you hold the manufacturer responsible for Gavin's accident?

This is how the judge ruled: NO! The judge held that a manufacturer has no duty to furnish a machine that will never wear out or that will never require replacement of worn parts. His duty is merely to make it free of latent defects and concealed dangers. (Based upon a 1967 New York Supreme Court Decision) and wondered what women do all day besides drink coffee and talk on the phone -- I found out when my wife had to go the hospital. It was during my vacation so I had a real opportunity to play housewife full time.

I cooked three perfectly rotten meals every day, did nine loads of laundry, tried to iron some shorts and work shirts -- scorched the shorts and knocked the buttons off the shirts. I gave up trying to clean the house or make the beds. No sooner did I get one room in shape when the kids tore up the one I had just finished.

How my wife manages to keep up the house and yard, market, cook, wash and iron, take the kids to the dentist and Scouts, sew costumes for them, bake cakes and pies, do club work and drive her mother around, is beyond me.

The average American housewife is a miracle worker. Any guy who doubts it should try to walk in her tennis shoes for a couple of days. --SMARTER NOW

Dear Smarter: That sound you hear is millions of women blowing you kisses.

Dear Ann Landers: For five years, ever since Jean and our son Rob have been married, they have spent Mother's Day, Father's Day, Thanksgiving, Christmas, Easter and the 4th of July with the other grandparents. We get them on St. Patrick's Day and Labor Day.

This year we want Jean and Rob and the grandchildren with us for Thanksgiving or Christmas. My husband had a heart attack in April and his health is not good. Jean's parents are much younger than we are and they will probably have many more years to enjoy the little ones. Shall I speak to Jean's parents about releasing them? --WISHING FAIRNESS

Dear Wish: Releasing them from what? Did they sign a contract in blood? Talk to your son and Jean. Tell them how you feel. If they are interested in being fair, they will agree to alternate the Thanksgiving and Christmas holidays -- one with you and the other with Jean's parents.

Unsure of yourself on dates? What's right? What's wrong? Should you? Shouldn't you? Send for Ann Landers' booklet "Dating Do's and Don'ts," enclosing with your request 35 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Dear Sir:

We thought it was a good idea to send you this letter because we count on your help and on the cooperation of your newspaper to reach your readers with our Brazilian message of friendship.

We, the INTERNATIONAL FRIENDS, are hundreds of Brazilian people of both sexes, of all ages and professions, who have created an International Correspondence Club some months ago. Through correspondence with foreign friends, we intend to exchange ideas and knowledge, to promote better understanding among people from different countries, to obtain more stamps and viewcards for our collections, to exchange newspapers and magazines, to be better informed about other countries and to help foreign people know our country better.

We started our activities by sending a letter like this one to the most important newspapers in South America. In a few weeks, we received more than 17,000 letters from every single country in this Hemisphere, from Mexico to Argentina.

However, most of our members would like to have friends in other continents. From Haiti, Bolivia, Panama, Mexico, Venezuela, Colombia, Peru, Chile, Brazil, Uruguay and Argentina -- just to name the countries where we have more than a thousand members -- we received frequent requests of names and addresses of American penfriends.

This is, so, the aim of this letter. On behalf of our members, we beg you the very special favor of printing our invitation to your readers who have an interest in communicating themselves with our members in Latin America.

Your interested readers may send us their name and complete address, sex, occupation, languages that they can read and write well, and their preferred hobbies. They can write in English, French, Italian Portuguese or Spanish.

Escapes At

CAPE GIRARDEAU--Two escapes, William E. Hampton, 24, and Curtis Choate, 28, from the Cape Girardeau jail Friday night, are back in their cells, thanks to the alertness of an Altenburg man, who picked them up in his car they were hitchhiking, the state patrol reported. The man was not identified.

He became suspicious and let them out in the small town of Frohna, in Terry county, and reported it to the town marshal, who contacted the state highway patrol.

The state patrol captured the two men Saturday at 6:30 p.m.

Today In U.S. History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Today is Tuesday, Oct. 1, the 275th day of 1968. There are 91 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1938, Adolf Hitler's troops crossed into the Sudetenland of Czechoslovakia, bringing about the enslavement of nearly one million Czechs.

On this date: In 1880, John Philip Sousa became conductor of the United States Marine Band.

In 1903 the first baseball World Series got under way in Boston between the Boston Americans and the Pittsburgh Nationals. Boston won.

In 1908, Henry Ford introduced his famous Model-T Ford.

In 1910, 21 persons were killed when an explosion rocked the plant of the Los Angeles Times.

In 1928, the first five-year plan was launched by the Soviet Union.

In 1936, Gen. Francisco Franco was proclaimed head of Spain's nationalist government.

Ten years ago — Britain's seven-year partnership plan for limited self-government for Cyprus went into effect and Greek Cypriots staged an island-wide strike in protest.

Five years ago — Congress approved a 14 1/2 per cent pay increase for most members of the armed forces; it was the highest military pay raise in U.S. history.

One year ago — Hundreds of Indonesian youths broke into the Chinese Communist Embassy in Jakarta, beat up diplomats, burned papers and ravaged the building.

Today In U.S. History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Today is Tuesday, Oct. 1, the 275th day of 1968. There are 91 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:
On this date in 1938, Adolf Hitler's troops crossed into the Sudetenland of Czechoslovakia, bringing about the enslavement of nearly one million Czechs.

On this date:
In 1880, John Philip Sousa became conductor of the United States Marine Band.

In 1903 the first baseball World Series got under way in Boston between the Boston Americans and the Pittsburgh Nationals. Boston won.

In 1908, Henry Ford introduced his famous Model-T Ford.

In 1921, 21 persons were killed when an explosion rocked the plant of the Los Angeles Times.

In 1928, the first five-year plan was launched by the Soviet Union.

In 1936, Gen. Francisco Franco was proclaimed head of Spain's nationalist government. Ten years ago — Britain's seven-year partnership plan for limited self-government for Cyprus went into effect and Greek Cypriots staged an island-wide strike in protest.

Five years ago — Congress approved a 14 1/2 percent pay increase for most members of the armed forces; it was the highest military pay raise in U.S. history.

One year ago — Hundreds of Indonesian youths broke into the Chinese Communist Embassy in Jakarta, beat up diplomats, burned papers and ravaged the building.

AN OTTER DIET

PRETORIA, South Africa (AP) - A marauding otter, out for a change of diet, apparently travelled miles overland to the Fountains Valley Dam near here and killed a white swan, a black swan and a muscovy duck in quick succession.

MARK OF EXCELLENCE

Putting-you-firsts:

(A quick tour of some of the thoughtful new features the 1969 Chevrolets offer that other cars in Chevrolet's field don't.)

Headlight washers

You push the windshield washer knob and hold it, and what happens? Your headlights come clean. Fluid is diverted to two jet nozzles at each light lens. (Outer lights only on duals.)

The spray is strong. It removes up to 80% of accumulated dirt. The feature is standard on 1969 Corvettes.

It comes with the hidden headlights available on Camaro, Caprice, and Kingswood Estate Wagons.

It is available on all other models except Corvair.

Be the first on your block.

Heated glass

In a moment your rear window will self-defrost.

Because we've built onto it a network of tiny ceramic strips capable of heating the entire surface.

Fog and frost disappear quickly and quietly.

You just flick a switch.

The heated rear window is available on the 1969 Caprice Coupe and Impala Custom Coupe.

Pushbutton tire chains

This is ingenious, if we do say so ourselves.

You press a button on the instrument panel and the rear tires get a shot of "liquid tire chain."

You spin your wheels once, wait a moment, and you're off—with traction

you wouldn't believe possible on slick ice, or packed snow.

A pressurized container sits up under each rear wheelhousing, and holds about 15 applications.

Which could get you through several winters in some parts of the country.

(Several weeks in others.)

Available on all 1969 big Chevrolets.

Steering wheel lock

When you own a car as desirable as the 1969 Chevrolet, you don't take chances.

When you leave it, you lock it.

Not just the doors.

You lock the ignition, steering wheel and transmission lever, too.

Our new lock on the steering column takes care of all that.

So even if somebody manages to break in and cross the wires, he'll have a hard time going anywhere.

Standard on all 1969 Chevrolets, Chevelles, Chevy Novas, Camaros and Corvettes.

Sorry, car thieves.

Power steering plus

The 1969 Caprice, Impala and Camaro are available with a new type of power steering.

Variable-ratio power steering.

What it does is give you faster steering with fewer turns of the wheel.

And with no increase in effort on your part.

(And without giving up that nice firm feel on straightaways.)

Variable-ratio power steering is particularly helpful in short, full turns.

And parking becomes unbelievably easy.

You'll see.

Walk-in wagons

The tailgate swings open like a door on most of our 1969 station wagons.

Which in itself is no big deal.

But wait, there's more.

We've built a concealed step into the rear bumper.

You simply step up, over, and in.

(The way we build our wagons, you can do it without bumping your head, and without acrobatics.)

Walk into a wagon soon at your Chevrolet dealer's.

THE PURPOSE OF EMBALMING

The primary and most important reason for embalming is protection of public health. Secondly, to create and restore to as near as possible a life-like appearance of the deceased, thus creating a beautiful memory-picture for those who survive.

Many people today think and believe of the wonderful but lost art of embalming as practiced by the Ancient Egyptians. The truth is, embalming as done in the days of the Pharaohs could never compare with that practiced in America today.

Where we today strive for a life-like appearance, the Egyptians had but one goal, preservation, for they believed that the soul would travel for three thousand years and would then occupy the same body it had departed.

In this modern day and age families no longer are the close unit of old, but in many cases are scattered to the four corners of the earth. Modern day embalming allows those at a great distance to return in time for the service if that be two days or two weeks.

Headlight washers

You push the windshield washer knob and hold it, and what happens? Your headlights come clean.

Fluid is diverted to two jet nozzles at each light lens. (Outer lights only on duals.)

The spray is strong. It removes up to 80% of accumulated dirt.

The feature is standard on 1969 Corvettes.

It comes with the hidden headlights available on Camaro, Caprice, and Kingswood Estate Wagons.

It is available on all other models except Corvair.

Be the first on your block.

Heated glass

In a moment your rear window will self-defrost.

Because we've built onto it a network of tiny ceramic strips capable of heating the entire surface.

Fog and frost disappear quickly and quietly.

You just flick a switch.

The heated rear window is available on the 1969 Caprice Coupe and Impala Custom Coupe.

Pushbutton tire chains

This is ingenious, if we do say so ourselves.

You press a button on the instrument panel and the rear tires get a shot of "liquid tire chain."

You spin your wheels once, wait a moment, and you're off—with traction

you wouldn't believe possible on slick ice, or packed snow.

A pressurized container sits up under each rear wheelhousing, and holds about 15 applications.

Which could get you through several winters in some parts of the country.

(Several weeks in others.)

Available on all 1969 big Chevrolets.

Steering wheel lock

When you own a car as desirable as the 1969 Chevrolet, you don't take chances. When you leave it, you lock it.

Not just the doors.

You lock the ignition, steering wheel and transmission lever, too.

Our new lock on the steering column takes care of all that.

So even if somebody manages to break in and cross the wires, he'll have a hard time going anywhere.

Standard on all 1969 Chevrolets, Chevelles, Chevy Novas, Camaros and Corvettes.

Sorry, car thieves.

Power steering plus

The 1969 Caprice, Impala and Camaro are available with a new type of power steering.

Variable-ratio power steering.

What it does is give you faster steering with fewer turns of the wheel.

And with no increase in effort on your part.

(And without giving up that nice firm feel on straightaways.)

Variable-ratio power steering is particularly helpful in short, full turns.

And parking becomes unbelievably easy.

You'll see.

Walk-in wagons

The tailgate swings open like a door on most of our 1969 station wagons. Which in itself is no big deal.

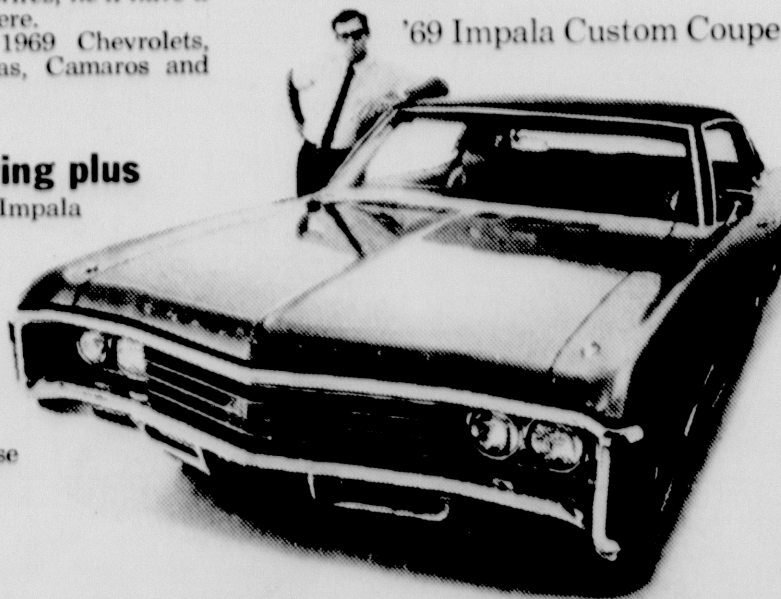

But wait, there's more.

We've built a concealed step into the rear bumper.

You simply step up, over, and in.

(The way we build our wagons, you can do it without bumping your head, and without acrobatics.)

Walk into a wagon soon at your Chevrolet dealer's.

Putting you first, keeps us first.
